

Veteran Alternatives Investment Manager
Bruce A. Feldman
Joins Health Evolution Partners

San Francisco, CA – January 25, 2012 – Health Evolution Partners (HEP), a health care buyout firm, announced today that Bruce A. Feldman has joined the firm as an investment advisor. Mr. Feldman will advise the HEP Spectrum Fund on portfolio construction, manager selection and fund performance. Bruce joins David Golden and Julie Eskay-Eagle as independent members of the Spectrum Commitment Committee.

“We are pleased to have Bruce join HEP,” said David J. Brailer, MD, PhD, CEO of Health Evolution Partners. “His strong track record in alternative investment management, as well as his experience in a broad variety of asset classes, will help our investment efforts generate strong returns.”

Until June 2011, Bruce was the Director of Alternative Investments for the Pennsylvania State Employees’ Retirement System (PA SERS), a public pension with over $6 billion of private equity fund commitments. Mr. Feldman previously served as Deputy Chief Counsel for Investments with PA SERS. Prior to that, he held a cabinet-level position in Pennsylvania Governor Robert P. Casey’s administration.

“Health Evolution Partners has developed a unique health care investing platform, bringing deep industry expertise to their investments,” stated Bruce A. Feldman. “I look forward to contributing to the firm’s continued success across all of its investment efforts.”

About Health Evolution Partners

Health Evolution Partners buys and operates rapidly growing companies that are commercial leaders in the health care industry. We invest around the globe and across the health economy, including services, information technology and life sciences. We form close working partnerships with outstanding management teams and fund managers and connect our companies to our network of CEOs, policy makers and thought leaders. For more information on Health Evolution Partners, please visit www.healthevolutionpartners.com.